Question: What constitutes being bribed (as the recipient of a bribe)?

Answer: It will be an offense for an employee or affiliate to receive a bribe if that person requests, agrees to do or not to do something, or receives an "advantage" to act in an improper manner. This encompasses situations where the recipient receives or accepts the advantage directly or through a third party, or whether it is for the recipient's benefit or that of another. It does not matter whether the recipient is unaware that his or her acceptance constitutes a bribe.

Question: What constitutes bribing a foreign public official?

Answer: It will be an offense to bribe a foreign public official by offering an "advantage" to the official, which is not permitted or is part of an official process under the written law applicable to that official, with the intention of obtaining or retaining a business advantage. Question: What does the FCPA prohibit?

Answer: The FCPA prohibits the offer, promise, authorization, or payment of "anything of value," directly or indirectly through agents or intermediaries, to "foreign officials" (foreign meaning non-US) in order to obtain, retain, or direct business or to secure any improper advantage over official actions that may affect the Company.

Question: What does the prohibition under the FCPA cover?

Answer: The prohibition under the FCPA is very broad and covers:

- Cash payments
- Non-cash "payments," benefits, and favors
- In certain circumstances, even gifts, entertainment, and hosted travel or training which would otherwise be deemed legitimate business expenditures

Question: Does the FCPA prohibit payments made through third parties?

Answer: Yes, the FCPA prohibits these payments whether they are made directly or indirectly through third parties (any individual or organization that an employee may come into contact with during the course of their engagement with the Company, including actual and potential customers, distributors, business contacts, agents, advisors, consultants, business associates, competitors, vendors, government, non-government organizations, and public bodies).

Question: What is "willful blindness" under the FCPA?

Answer: "Willful blindness" to a suspected improper payment or a mere promise of something improper can be the basis for a violation of the FCPA.

Question: Who is considered a "Foreign Official" under the FCPA?

Answer: For the purposes of the FCPA, "foreign official" means:

- Any officer or employee of a foreign government (i.e., other than the United States) or any department, agency, or instrumentality thereof, or of a public international organization
- Any person acting in an official capacity for or on behalf of a foreign government or government entity or of a public international organization
- Employees or officials at all levels of government (local, regional, and national) and all branches of government (legislative, judicial, and executive)

=====

Question: What does "anything of value" include under the FCPA?

Answer: "Anything of value" is very broad and can include:

- Gifts
- Gift or sale of stock or other investment opportunities
- Contracts or other business opportunities awarded to a company in which a foreign official holds a beneficial interest

SECTION 217.6: ANTI-CORRUPTION POLICY - UKBA (UNITED KINGDOM'S BRIBERY ACT, 2010)

Policy ID: CBN-AC-007

Question: What are the four new offenses created by the UKBA?

Answer: The UKBA creates four new offenses:

- Offense 1: Active bribery (i.e., giving, promising, or offering a bribe)
- Offense 2: Passive bribery (i.e., requesting, agreeing to receive, or accepting a bribe)
- Offense 3: Bribing a foreign public official
- Offense 4: A new corporate offense where a corporate or partnership fails to prevent those performing services on their behalf from paying bribes

Question: What is Active Bribery under the UKBA?

Answer: A bribe can be offered, promised, or given directly or through a third party. An offense is committed if the person offering the bribe intends to induce the person receiving the bribe to perform their function or activity improperly or as a reward for having done so. It does not matter that the function or activity has no connection with the U.K. and is performed outside the U.K.

Question: What test is used to determine improper performance under the UKBA?

Answer: An objective "reasonable man" test will be adopted for the determination of whether the recipient has performed their function or activity improperly, i.e., whether the recipient is in breach of an expectation by a reasonable man that the function or activity will be performed in good faith and impartially.

Question: What is Passive Bribery under the UKBA?

Answer: The recipient of a bribe commits an offense even if they have no intention of committing a criminal act or are unaware that they are in breach of an expectation arising from their position of trust. It does not matter if the person performing the function accepted the bribe with the intention of performing their function or activity improperly.

Question: What is the Bribery of Foreign Public Officials offense under the UKBA?

Answer: It is unnecessary for the person offering a bribe to know or intend that the foreign public official acts improperly. It is sufficient that they intend to influence the official and to obtain or retain a business advantage. Also, it is not necessary for the official to actually act improperly.

Question: What is the Corporate Offense of Failing to Prevent Bribery under the UKBA?

Answer: The provisions on corporate liability are one of the strictest for commercial organizations, making companies effectively vicariously liable for both public and private sector bribery by their employees, agents, or others performing services on their behalf. The offense can be triggered by acts of bribery anywhere in the world, and a prosecutor does not need to show that the company knew of the bribery. The only defense to this offense is to show that an organization had in place "adequate procedures" to prevent such bribery.

=====

Question: In what three ways is the UKBA wider than the FCPA?

Answer: The UKBA is wider than the FCPA in three ways:

- Way 1: It applies to private sector bribery as well as public sector bribery wherever such acts are committed

- Way 2: There is no exemption for facilitating payments - even for U.S. companies - if they "do business" in the U.K.

- Way 3: Both U.K. and non-U.K. companies doing business in the U.K. will have corporate liability for offenses committed by agents or others performing services on their behalf

SEMICOLONS 2026 HACKATHON - COMPLETE GUIDE TO EVENT OVERVIEW, JUDGING CRITERIA, PROBLEM SELECTION, AND SOLUTION PRESENTATION

Document Type: Event Guidelines and Technical Documentation
Department: Event Organisers
Effective Date: 16-17 May 2026
Version: 1.0
Applies To: All Participating Teams

=====

SECTION 282: SEMICOLONS 2026 - EVENT OVERVIEW AND CORE INTENT

Policy ID: HACK-012

Question: What is Semicolons 2026 and when does it take place?

Answer: Semicolons is Persistent's flagship global annual hackathon and this is the 13th edition. The event runs on May 16-17, 2026, and the build window is essentially 24 hours.

Question: What is the core intent of the hackathon?

Answer: The core intent is not to create a superficial proof of concept. Teams are expected to build real enterprise-grade solutions that solve real problems and can potentially be shown to customers or even used by Persistent's own enabling functions.

Question: What did the briefing repeatedly emphasize about the solutions?

Answer: The briefing repeatedly emphasized that:

- The solution must solve a genuine need
- The prototype must be working, not conceptual
- The solution should show real-world relevance
- AI should be used meaningfully, not cosmetically
- Teams should aim for something that can be taken forward beyond the event

=====

SECTION 283: THE MOST IMPORTANT ACTIONS FOR EVERY TEAM

Policy ID: HACK-013

Question: What are the most important actions every team should take?

Answer: If you missed everything else, make sure your team does these things:

1. Confirm your team, problem statement, and ownership quickly.
2. Spend real time understanding the problem before building.
3. Build a working prototype with code.
4. Prepare the required presentation using the provided pitch template.
5. Record a short demo video.
6. Package your repository correctly for AI and human judging.
7. Deploy through the Semicolons portal instead of trying to access AWS directly.
8. Leave time for testing, demo capture, documentation, and submission.

Question: What warning did the organisers give about timing and submission?

Answer: The organisers specifically warned teams not to wait too long to think about submission. You should work backwards from the submission deadline and avoid spending the whole night coding without packaging the final output.

SECTION 284: WHAT JUDGES WILL LOOK FOR

Policy ID: HACK-014

Question: How will the judging process work?

Answer: The judging will combine AI judging and human judging. The flow described in the session was:

- AI judging first
- Manual judging panels next
- Top teams move into the final pitch tank

Question: How many teams make it to the final pitch tank?

Answer: One number mentioned in the briefing was that the top 10 teams would make it to the final pitch tank. If later written event communication says top 8 or another number, use the written event instruction as the final rule.

Question: What are the broad judging dimensions mentioned in the briefing?

Answer: The broad judging dimensions mentioned were:

- Innovation: What is meaningfully new or better in your approach?
- Business impact: What value does it create, and for whom?
- Execution: Did you actually build it, and is the implementation credible?
- Demo quality: Can you clearly show the outcome and explain the value?

SECTION 285: PROBLEM SELECTION AND SOLUTION EXPECTATIONS

Policy ID: HACK-015

Question: What tracks may teams be working across?

Answer: Teams may be working across tracks such as:

- BFSI (Banking, Financial Services, and Insurance)
- Healthcare
- Hi-Tech
- Manufacturing
- Horizontal themes such as Generative AI and Agentic AI

Question: What expectation did the organisers make about problem understanding?

Answer: The organisers made one expectation very clear: the problem must be understood deeply by the team itself. Because the event has been decentralized and there are many problem statements, teams should not expect a central SME to come define the problem for them.

Question: What is the responsibility of the team regarding problem understanding?

Answer: The responsibility sits with the team to understand:

- What exact problem is being solved
- Who the target user is
- Why the problem matters now
- How the prototype will prove value

=====

Question: What questions should the team be able to answer about their solution?

Answer: The team should be able to answer:

- What is the user need?
- What pain point exists today?
- What is the real-world or business consequence?
- Why is this solution worth building in 24 hours?

SECTION 286: SOLUTION PRESENTATION GUIDANCE

Policy ID: HACK-016

Question: What template was introduced for the solution pitch?

Answer: The briefing introduced a solution pitch template, and participants were told to use it as a structured guide. The template is not meant to restrict creativity, but it does indicate the expected story arc.

Question: What is the expected structure for the solution presentation?

Answer: The expected structure is:

1. Need
2. Approach

3. Benefits

4. Differentiation

5. Demo walkthrough

Question: What should be included in the solution presentation?

Answer: Your presentation should clearly cover:

- The problem and need
- How your solution works
- A simple architecture view
- The value created
- Why the solution is differentiated
- What you will demo live or in the recorded walkthrough

=====

SECTION 286.1: SOLUTION PRESENTATION - HOW TO PRESENT THE "NEED" SECTION

Policy ID: HACK-017

Question: How should the "Need" section be presented effectively?

Answer: To present the "Need" section effectively:

- Explain the pain point clearly.
- Show who is affected.
- Ground the problem in a real workflow or business context.

SECTION 286.2: SOLUTION PRESENTATION - HOW TO PRESENT THE "APPROACH" SECTION

Policy ID: HACK-018

Question: How should the "Approach" section be presented effectively?

Answer: To present the "Approach" section effectively:

- Keep the logic understandable even to non-developers.
- Show a simple architecture, not an overly complex technical diagram.

SECTION 286.3: SOLUTION PRESENTATION - HOW TO PRESENT THE "BENEFITS" SECTION

Policy ID: HACK-019

Question: How should the "Benefits" section be presented effectively?

Answer: To present the "Benefits" section effectively:

- The briefing explicitly encouraged teams to call out measurable value such as "30% faster."

=====

SECTION 286.4: SOLUTION PRESENTATION - HOW TO PRESENT THE "DIFFERENTIATION" SECTION

Policy ID: HACK-020

Question: How should the "Differentiation" section be presented effectively?

Answer: To present the "Differentiation" section effectively:

- Explain why your solution is different from current practice or available alternatives.
- Make the "why us, why now, why this" case visible.

SECTION 286.5: SOLUTION PRESENTATION - HOW TO PRESENT THE "DEMO WALKTHROUGH" SECTION

Policy ID: HACK-021

Question: How should the "Demo Walkthrough" section be presented effectively?

Answer: To present the "Demo Walkthrough" section effectively:

- This is critical.
- The briefing explicitly called for a wow moment or magic moment.

- The demo should show the key thing your solution does exceptionally well.

SECTION 286.6: BEST-PRACTICE PITCH ADVICE

Policy ID: HACK-022

Question: What is the best-practice pitch advice based on the briefing?

Answer: The best-practice pitch advice based on the briefing is:

- Keep the problem statement sharper than the technology story.
- Use a simple architecture slide, not an overloaded one.
- Quantify impact wherever you can.
- Make the demo memorable.
- Do not let the presentation become theoretical.

HACKATHON SUBMISSION GUIDELINES AND TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS - COMPLETE GUIDE

=====

Document Type: Event Guidelines and Technical Documentation

Department: Event Organisers

Effective Date: As per event schedule

Version: 1.0

Applies To: All Participating Teams

=====

SECTION 269: SUBMISSION EXPECTATIONS - REQUIRED PACKAGE COMPONENTS

Policy ID: HACK-001

Question: What must teams submit beyond just code for the hackathon?

Answer: The organisers were very explicit that teams must submit more than just code. The expected package includes:

- Source code
- A presentation deck
- A demo video
- Documentation such as a README.md file

Question: What did Mandar specify about the submission requirements?

Answer: Mandar said the submission should include a working prototype with code, plus a 10-minute video demo that covers the presentation and demo, and that the final artifact should be under 100 MB.

Question: What did Cladius later describe as the repo expectation?

Answer: Cladius later described the repo expectation as having a short 5-7 minute demo video in the root folder.

Question: What is the safest interpretation of the conflicting video duration guidance?

Answer: Because those two descriptions are close but not identical, the safest interpretation is:

- Keep the video concise
- Aim for roughly 5-10 minutes maximum
- Keep the final submission within any official size guidance
- Include all required assets in a way that AI judging can easily inspect

=====

Question: What files does the technology briefing suggest having in the repository root?

Answer: The technology briefing explicitly suggested having files like:

- demo_video.mp4
- presentation.pptx
- README.md

Question: How should authentication credentials be handled in the submission?

Answer: If your application requires credentials or specific authentication steps for evaluation, those details should be clearly described in the README.md file.

SECTION 270: DO'S AND DON'TS FOR PARTICIPANTS

Policy ID: HACK-002

Question: What are the key "Do's" for hackathon participants?

Answer: The key Do's are:

- Do focus on solving a real problem.
- Do build a working prototype with real code.
- Do understand the target user and the business context.

- Do use the official solution pitch template.
- Do quantify business value if possible.
- Do include a simple architecture view.
- Do capture a clean demo with a visible wow moment.
- Do use the Semicolons portal, GitLab, and provided help resources.
- Do add documentation so AI judging can understand your work.
- Do plan submission early and work backwards from the deadline.
- Do use the provided sample repos and help pages.
- Do keep your app deployment-ready with a proper Dockerfile and the required port.
- Do ask questions in the shared support channels instead of one-to-one messages.

Question: What are the key "Don'ts" for hackathon participants?

Answer: The key Don'ts are:

- Don't submit only an idea, concept note, or shallow prototype.
- Don't assume someone else will define the problem for your team.
- Don't wait until the last minute to think about deployment, demo capture, and submission packaging.
- Don't contact core team members one-on-one for routine questions when the war room or bot is available.
- Don't try to log into AWS directly unless your team has independently provisioned something outside the official setup.
- Don't push bulky dependency folders like node_modules, Python packages, or jar collections into GitLab.
- Don't ignore the app query parameter behavior when building routed web apps.
- Don't expose an app on the wrong port.
- Don't forget to include demo and presentation files in the repository.
- Don't assume your local setup will behave the same as the deployed environment.

Question: What is the important warning about checking in large dependency folders?

Answer: One especially important warning from Cladius is that checking in large dependency folders may attract negative marks because it slows evaluation and wastes shared infrastructure space.

SECTION 271: TECHNOLOGY SETUP PROVIDED BY ORGANISERS

=====

Policy ID: HACK-003

Question: What GitLab functionality is provided to participants?

Answer: The following GitLab functionality is provided:

- Teams can create repositories and collaborate there.
- Team members should be added to the repo.

=====

Question: How does the deployment pipeline work?

Answer: The deployment pipeline works as follows:

- Code from GitLab can be deployed automatically through the Semicolons portal.
- The deployment pipeline will handle deployment to AWS.
- Participants do not need direct AWS access for the official path.

Question: What database is provisioned for participants?

Answer: A MySQL-compatible RDS-backed database is provisioned automatically on first deployment. The database cannot be accessed directly from participant laptops. The deployed application can access it using environment variables injected into the container.

Question: How are LLM keys provided?

Answer: LLM keys will be provided. Available models are documented. Access is through Persistent's GenAI Hub setup rather than direct unmanaged cloud access.

=====

Question: What coding assistants were mentioned as available?

Answer: The four tools mentioned were:

- OpenAI Codex
- Cloud Code via SASWA
- GitHub Copilot

- Persistent SASWA

If you were assigned one tool but already have access to SASWA, the speaker explicitly said you can use SASWA as well.

=====

Question: What is provided for participants using customer laptops or restricted customer images?

Answer: For some participants using customer laptops or restricted customer images, AVD or VM options would be shared.

Question: What is the Semicolons Assist bot and how should it be used?

Answer: The Semicolons Assist bot is available on Teams and should be the first place to ask operational and technical questions.

=====

SECTION 272: WHAT WILL NOT BE PROVIDED CENTRALLY

=====

Policy ID: HACK-004

Question: What is not part of the central provisioning?

Answer: The session also clearly stated what is not part of the central provisioning:

- Direct AWS account access
- Direct Bedrock access
- Direct access to services like SageMaker or Redshift through the official event setup
- Every requested commercial tool for every team
- Every participant's preferred AI tool on demand

Question: How can teams obtain something outside the centrally provided menu?

Answer: If your team needs something outside the centrally provided menu, you are expected to:

- Work with your project manager
- Raise the right request
- Procure or provision it separately if needed

=====

Question: How can a team get a JIRA project?

Answer: For JIRA specifically, the instruction shared was:

- Ask your project manager to raise a request at freebird.persistent.com
- Use the Atlassian section to create a JIRA project

=====

SECTION 273: OFFICIAL DEVELOPMENT AND DEPLOYMENT FLOW

=====

Policy ID: HACK-005

Question: What is the intended workflow for development and deployment?

Answer: The intended workflow described in the briefing was:

1. Create a repository in GitLab
2. Add your team members
3. Register the repository in the Semicolons portal
4. Push your code to GitLab
5. Trigger deployment to AWS from the portal
6. Check deployment status and logs in the portal

=====

Question: What does the portal do when a deployment is triggered?

Answer: The portal will:

- Clone your repository
- Inspect your Dockerfile
- Build the container
- Deploy it to AWS
- Test the deployment
- Surface the application URL

=====

Question: Who can deploy through the portal?

Answer: Only the team lead can deploy through the portal. This is meant to avoid conflicts from multiple people trying to deploy simultaneously.

=====

Question: How many applications can each team create in the portal?

Answer: Each team can create only two applications in the portal.

SECTION 274: CRITICAL TECHNICAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR DEVELOPERS

=====

Policy ID: HACK-006

Question: What are the Docker and runtime requirements?

Answer: The Docker and runtime requirements are:

- You need a Dockerfile.
- Your application must expose itself on port 8000.

If these are missing or incorrect, deployment is likely to fail.

Question: Why does the 'app' query parameter matter?

Answer: The portal and shared DNS model route multiple applications behind the same base domain. Because of this, your deployed application uses a unique app identifier. Developers were told to ensure that:

- The same app ID is preserved across redirects
- Front-end routes preserve the app ID
- Front-end to back-end calls preserve the app ID
- Any internal navigation that depends on URLs handles it correctly

This matters especially for routed web applications such as React front ends talking to APIs.

=====

Question: How should teams use the provided environment variables for the database?

Answer: The database connection details are injected automatically into the deployed container as environment variables. This means:

- Do not hardcode database connection values
- Do not expect to connect to the cloud database directly from your laptop
- Write your app to consume environment variables in deployment
- Use local fallbacks such as SQLite for local development if needed

=====

Question: What should teams do if deployment fails?

Answer: If deployment fails, teams should:

- Check the portal logs
- Check the issue created in your GitLab repository

The briefing said failure reasons may include:

- Missing Dockerfile
- Wrong port exposure
- Docker build problems
- Other deployment-layer issues

=====

SECTION 275: REPOSITORY HYGIENE INSTRUCTIONS

=====

Policy ID: HACK-007

Question: What should teams check into the repository?

Answer: Teams should check in:

- Source code
- requirements.txt, pom.xml, package.json, or similar manifest files
- Documentation
- Demo video
- Presentation file

=====

Question: What should teams NOT check into the repository?

Answer: Teams should NOT check in:

- node_modules
- Large dependency folders
- Bundled Python environments
- jar libraries that should be resolved through normal build mechanisms

=====

Question: What is the explicit advice regarding dependency management?

Answer: The explicit advice was: check in the instructions to recreate dependencies, not the dependency payload itself.

SECTION 276: SUPPORT MODEL DURING THE EVENT

=====

Policy ID: HACK-008

Question: What support channels are available to participants?

Answer: Participants were told support will be available through:

- IT
- Administration
- Leadership
- Virtual or physical war room
- The Semicolons Assist bot in Teams

=====

Question: What is the recommended support behavior for participants?

Answer: The recommended support behavior is:

- Ask the bot first.
- Use the war room or shared support channel next.
- Avoid one-to-one outreach unless explicitly asked.
- Come prepared with a specific technical or operational issue.

Question: What is the spirit of the event regarding responsibility?

Answer: Participants were told that the spirit of the event is intrapreneurial and the responsibility to make progress remains with the team.

SECTION 277: TIME PLANNING AND EVENT FLOW

=====

Policy ID: HACK-009

Question: What are the key timeline notes mentioned for the event?

Answer: The key timeline notes mentioned were:

- Registration begins around 7:30 AM IST
- Kickoff follows
- Then come build blocks, mentorship, leader interactions, and stress-buster activities
- Support will be available throughout the 24 hours
- The team should plan to close out the work and submit by the next morning
- The organiser specifically said to think of it as ending around 8:00 AM the next day for submission focus

=====

Question: What is the strongest planning advice from the briefing?

Answer: The strongest planning advice from the briefing was:

- Build early
- Package early
- Demo early
- Submit early enough to avoid last-minute failure

=====

SECTION 278: PRACTICAL ADVICE FOR TEAMS THAT MISSED THE SESSION

=====

Policy ID: HACK-010

Question: What is the recovery plan for teams that missed the briefing entirely?

Answer: If your team missed the briefing entirely, this is the most practical recovery plan:

1. Read the official template and decide your problem story in 15-20 minutes.
2. Finalize the target user, problem statement, and value hypothesis before coding heavily.
3. Create the GitLab repo and add the team immediately.
4. Decide who the team lead is for deployment.
5. Start from a sample repo if your use case is web-based and close to the examples.

6. Build the smallest working path first.
7. Keep the pitch deck in parallel with development instead of leaving it to the end.
8. Record the demo as soon as the core path works.
9. Add the README and evaluation notes before final submission.
10. Do a final pass on deployment, logs, repo contents, and demo files.

SECTION 279: FINAL TAKEAWAY

=====

Policy ID: HACK-011

Question: What is the final takeaway from the briefing?

Answer: The spirit of the briefing was simple:

- Solve a real problem
- Build something working
- Use AI meaningfully
- Present the value clearly
- Submit cleanly

Question: What distinguishes teams that do well in the hackathon?

Answer: Teams that do well are unlikely to be the ones with the most slides or the fanciest buzzwords. They will be the ones that understand the problem deeply, build a working solution, demonstrate clear business value, and package the submission in a way that judges can evaluate easily.
